Written by Smith / Dickinson

Lyrics

Across a painted desert lies a train of vagabonds

All that's left of what we were it's what we have become

Once our empires glorious but now the empire's gone

The dead gave us the time to live and now our time is done

Now we are victorious we've become our slaves

A land of hope and glory building graveyards for the brave

Have you seen the writing on the wall

Have you seen that writing

Can you see the riders on the storm

Can you see them riding ~ can you see them riding

Holding on to jury is that all we ever know
Ignorance our judge and jury all we've got to show
From Hollywood to Babylon ~ holy war to kingdom come
On a trail of dust and ashes ~ when the burning sky is done
A tide of change is coming and that is what you fear
The earthquake is a coming but you don't want to hear You're just too blind to see

Have you seen the writing on the wall
Have you seen that writing
Can you see the riders on the storm
Can you see them riding
Can you see them riding. . . Riding next to you

It's absolutely unbelievable these guys are not yet in the RNR Hall of Fame. As a rock band they are the epitome of what rock music is, and all that without the mainstream support of radios and TV. The influence over other metal and rock bands that are in the aforementioned hall is undeniable.

I am so grateful to my aunt, uncle, and brother for introducing me to metal at a young age. I grew up with this music in the background at my grandmother's house, in the car, etc. The big three for them were Maiden, Metallica, and Megadeth, but we had so much music growing up.
